Introduction

Each member of the Accessibility Tick programme is entitled to receive annual training on accessibility and disability inclusion. Historically this has been focussed on disability confidence, however the recent changes around management of the programme has provided an opportunity to update the training offerings.

Accessibility Tick's Partners from across the disability sector are now making their trainings available through their membership and/or at discounted rates.

The listed trainings in this document will always be evolving. Ensure you have the latest version by visiting www.accessibilitytick.nz/training.

Training Credits

Effective immediately, Accessibility Tick members are entitled to 10 training credits, each year they remain a member, and discounts on other accessibility related trainings/programmes. The new training credits allow us to offer a significantly broader range of trainings, customising length and topic to the members specific needs.

Training credits are non-transferable and expire at the end of each membership year.

Some trainings within this catalogue may not be available using the allocated training credits to our members using training credits and/or at discounted rates.

Non-members

Non-Accessibility Tick members can use this catalogue, however they are not eligible for the discounted rates.

Bookings

To receive the discount and/or use training credits, members must book the training through their Accessibility Tick contact or by emailing trainings@accessibilitytick.nz.

Notes

- This catalogue was correct at the time of printing but is subject to change without notice.
- All prices are subject to change without notice and are exclusive of GST.
- Unless stated otherwise, prices for classroom-based trainings do not include any room hire or catering expenses. Room hire and catering can be organised at an additional cost.
- Unless otherwise noted, training credits must be used to pay for the training in full. If the member has insufficient training credits, then the member discount rate will apply.
- Most providers will provide courses outside of the Base Locations, but additional travel expenses may be incurred.
- Bookings for trainings and programmes in this catalogue are at the discretion of Accessibility Tick Limited and its Partners. Bookings may be refused for reasons such as, error or omissions in this document, insufficient capacity, insufficient member credits, or other reasons not listed.
- Customisation of courses may incur additional costs.

Two Worlds Collide – How Embracing Diversity, unleashes potential and improves performance, culture and wellbeing.

Purpose

This participatory workshop helps senior leaders see the personal and organisational benefits unleashed when you open your hearts and workplaces to people with diverse access needs and disabilities. You'll overcome your uncertainty and fear as you see how working with people with different abilities can improve the culture and wellbeing of your organisation.

Audience / Maximum Participants

Board Members and Senior Managers / No Maximum

Duration

3 hours

Learning Style

Face to Face/ Participatory/action oriented

Content

Sandra Budd and Julie Woods will share with you the impact on their lives when their two worlds collided and what they learnt from being exposed to each other.

After 12 years as CEO of the Blind Foundation, Sandra knows she grew personally as a leader working with people of diversity which resulted in a more inclusive organisational culture, better results and the development of her as a heart led leader.

Julie knows that being spotted as someone with a winning attitude, never saying No but why not, has moved her towards opportunities that have stretched her and enabled her to reach her potential as a totally blind woman.

- Learn what happens to senior leaders and organisations when you open your heart to inclusion and diversity.
- Discover how authentic heart-led leaders change cultures and produce better results, modelling inclusivity that inspires and influences you and your people.
- Learn how to interact empathetically with people who are different from you.
- Find out how your fear stops you from moving towards people with disabilities and how to change that!
- Discover how listening to people who are different from you is vital to good business and how you can spot potential from listening to their stories.
- Have fun “playing the Why Not Game” using the diversity set and taking action subsequent to the workshop.

Deaf and Hard of Hearing Specific

Hearing Accredited Workplace Programme

Purpose

A lack of hearing loss awareness can lead to communication barriers within your organisation, and between your organisation and its customers. The Hearing Accredited Workplace Programme is a nationwide initiative that provides practical tools and training to assist organisations to be more hearing aware and to be supportive of employees who are Deaf or hard of hearing.

Hearing loss currently affects around 11% of New Zealand's workforce and this number is increasing. Youth hearing loss is on the rise globally, with 1 in 5 teenagers estimated to be living with this disability. As these young people enter the workforce, this will have a significant impact, particularly on organisations who lack inclusivity strategies that accommodate hearing loss.

Increased levels of disabling hearing loss is a widespread global challenge. According to the World Health Organisation, current levels of hearing loss are expected to double over the next three decades.

Align your disability and inclusion strategy in 2020. By becoming a Hearing Accredited Workplace, your organisation will be in a stronger position to retain experienced staff, gain access to a new talent pool and attract new customers.
